Received.

Raymond L. Johnson

Dear Raymond,
Remember Japanese
English in our know well year. You are know & don't you sure to know. I am person to you. I am fact, I am. I am
Raymond.

Dear Raymond,
I enjoyed your interesting talk
in Economics class.
Wishing you the best of luck in
the future.
Love, Reinke

Dear Raymond,
I've had fun
in English class this year. Good luck in the future.
Pat Dech

Dear Ray,
I haven't seen you
very much this year
but am wishing you
the best of luck.
Love,
MaDora
L. Johnson

Dear Raymond-

I've so immensely enjoyed being with you these years that I am sorry to leave.

But I hope you will be successful in all of your adventures.
Fishing should be good this year.
I hope you will get your share.
Here's wishing you lots of luck - to a sportsman -

Dear Ray,
Our high school days
are almost over already.
It's been hard work but a lot of fun. Don't forget Eng. Lit. class, or our old school bus.

A friend,

Dear Ray (Duncan),
We had a rough time getting those beads on & off didn't we. Thanks for the use of those shoes I would have look kind of funny bare foot. Dan Thibault

Ray,

Only one more noon hour when you can chase me with a ruler. I'll miss those tennis, and the fabulous English class. History, too. I can't forget 10:00 study hall and our ^{girl} Betty. I'll remember to save some stamps for you! Be good!

Best of luck,

Dear Ray,

I'll never forget
our Econ. & Comm. Law classes, will you? They hold many fond memories for all of us I think. Lots of luck to a guy with a swell personality.

Dear Raymond,
To a very talented History student. I'd like to wish you the very best in everything you do. Don't ever lose that cute accent.
It kept the morale of the class up.
Lots of luck & success to you.
Make the best of your abilities.

FOREWORD

*J*HE WORK OF ONE MORE SCHOOL YEAR HAS BEEN COMPLETED, WITH ANOTHER CLASS ABOUT TO GRADUATE. WE HOPE THAT AS YOU RE-READ THIS ANNUAL YOU MAY OCCASIONALLY FIND THAT WE HAVE LEFT AN EXAMPLE FOR YOU TO EMULATE, A PRINCIPLE TO FOLLOW.

A RETROSPECT OF "THE GOOD OLD DAYS" SPENT IN CAREFREE BLISS WILL NO DOUBT BRING MANY LAUGHS AND TEARS. WE WILL ALL WISH SOMETIME TO BE BACK IN HIGH SCHOOL AGAIN. THE WORK, THE FUN, THE JOYS, THE SORROWS, AND THE RENDEZVOUS OF M.H.S. STUDENTS WILL NEVER BE FORGOTTEN. IT IS TO HELP RETAIN THESE MEMORIES THAT WE, THE STAFF, PROUDLY PRESENT
THE 1948 MENOMIN.

Dear Ray,
It has been fun
knowing you & all measures have put the banquet and the fun we had. Good luck to you in all that you do

GRADUATING GOBS

WHEN WE EMBARKED on the last leg of our voyage, it looked like a long, hard trip through heavy seas. Now as we look back it seems as though the journey lasted only a few months, with smooth sailing most of the way.

Our good ship brought us through in fine shape. We were able to watch our football games at night under the new lights at Nelson Field. Adele Bryan reigned as homecoming queen, and the Hallowe'en theme was prominent in most of the parade's floats.

The carnival was a momentous occasion in our lives this year. Our prospective businessmen were given a taste of "big business," and the troubles connected with it.

No one can forget the traditional Senior Banquet, followed by the dance in the gym. The girls helped the janitors by polishing the floor with their stocking feet.

Able pilots of the Class of '48 were:

RALPH OLSON	PRESIDENT
JERRY GREUEL	VICE-PRESIDENT
ZELLA EDWARDS	SECRETARY
MARY EINUM	TREASURER

MISS CARRIE SCHABACKER, EINER LUND, AND PAUL HASSETT were our advisors for the year.

AS OUR SHIP DOCKS, HAVING FINALLY REACHED ITS DESTINATION, WE ALL LOOK BACK ON OUR SENIOR YEAR AS THE MOST SUCCESSFUL AND EVENTFUL ONE OF THE WHOLE VOYAGE.

Glad to have been class in this year. See you around this summer.

Next Year's Navy

David Buran President
Karl Young Vice-president
Mary Lou McNaughton Secretary
Benita Smith Treasurer

"One last voyage," is the cry of the Junior Class, as it drops anchor after three already successful voyages.

Mrs. Minda Dockar, Frank Belisle, and Lyle Pollock didn't go along just as passengers either, but paid their fare many times over by helping out when the rudder seemed to become a little unsteady.

Sailing along fine, with no bad storms, Juniors were represented ably in sports, music, and forensics.

Christmas time saw Juniors manning the oars and decorating for the class parties, while in the spring arose the task of hoisting the sails for the "Junior Prom" and also of swabbing the decks afterwards.

Now for some time out on leave; time to calk the ship and take on provisions; then, when the tide goes out, back to the memorable sea and one last voyage. Ship Ahoy!!

Dear Roy,
 We sure had a lot of fun together in our senior year. I sure hope
 you are doing well.
 I wish you love
 in the future.
 Love,
 M. A. Timmerman

Tawny Tars

It's anchors aweigh and the Sophomore Class of M.H.S. sails ahead with the following gold braid at the wheel:

Tom Gane President

Julie Metling Vice-president

Barbara Hermann Secretary

Carolyn Ohnstad Treasurer

Under the command of Phillip Snow, Miss Mildred Duff, and Mrs. Ballentine, who ably filled the vacancy left by Mrs. Francis, we sailed safely through the year.

Our crew of Student Council representatives consisted of Pat Goodrich, Kathleen Bilse, Jim Belisle, Dan Givney, and Russ Martell.

We steamed into port with victories in football, basketball (sailing over the Seniors for class championship), track, declam, debate, choir, and band.

We hilariously spent our shore leave at our Christmas party. There was a tidal wave of girls in the "new look" with bright petticoats and ballerina skirts. Everyone had a fine time dancing the "Flying Dutchman", the "Schottish", and the "Jig".

As the sun sinks in the horizon, we are seen sailing off on the U.S.S. Menomin toward our exciting summer vacation. It is with a little sadness that we see our sophomore year lose itself in the mist of past days, but we get comfort in knowing of the two happy years ahead.

Climbing The Rope

With one successful voyage to their credit, the Freshmen have gotten their first taste of salt water, and are looking forward to three more years on the high seas.

Marlowe Sperstad President
 Mary Vogtsberger Vice-president
 Ruth Sipple Secretary
 Mary Hulback Treasurer

No cyclones or hurricanes were encountered, but when an occasional squall appeared, Miss Edna Ingalls, Miss Eleanor Koehler, and Ronald Snow cheerfully appeared on deck as the distress signal was blown.

A gala Christmas party was held when the North Seas were cold and snowy, and with "all hands on deck", the night was made a success.

The class showed that they could cooperate very well as a crew when such events as parades appeared on the horizon, and floats were needed.

A round trip ticket on this voyage was priced at fifty cents, but on waiting a few years, and as the squalls and storms increase, the fare will probably "tell the tale."

True sailors are versatile beings, and this class doesn't seem to lack in this trait, with members in many activities such as football, junior choir, Maroon Warrior, and forensics.

Next year, as anchors are weighed for a second time, we will wish the Sophomores a hail and hearty voyage.

Future Seamen

Some of these recruits will be seen in boot camp again next year, while others will be subjected to their first tour of sea duty.

Their indoctrination was given under direction of the very capable chiefs: Mrs. Lina Hellum, Miss Hattie Bates, Mrs. Jessie Hardies, and Mrs. Lene Jones. Staterooms 106, 108, 103, and 105 housed our "greenies" during basic training.

The girls displayed their knowledge of seamanship in the gym exhibition by manning the ropes (skipping rope).

They spent their Christmas party aboard ship, dancing and playing various games.

As the older seamen retire, the boots will filter into their ranks, taking over their duties aboard ship.

Bon Voyage!

This Meeting Will Come To Order!

Guiding the state affairs of the U.S.S. Menomin was the ship's legislature, commonly called the Student Council.

Ship personnel, who might be strolling on "B" deck every other Monday night, can hear President Don Allen's salty voice calling for order as this governing body settles down to real business. Vice-president Bill Borm gives his moral support to the able president by sending threatening glances to gobs who do not seem to hear the command for order. Secretary Adele Bryan calls roll, and the financial status of the ship is read by Treasurer K. Bilse.

Operations of the legislature are carried out by three committees. The Citizenship, which tries to make ship quarters more pleasant, the Promotional, which regulates social affairs on board ship, and the Welfare, which sends condolences to the seasick and takes care of lost and found articles picked up on the decks or in the cabins of our ship.

Commodores advising this body are Miss Hattie Bates, Paul Hassett, Robert Lee, and Lyle Maves.

Ship activities such as homecoming, the basketball and football parties, and the juke box dances were sponsored by the Student Council.

Sea legs were accustomed to dry land as the Council spent one of its liberties at a picnic on shore.

Stateroom Gold Braid

The State (Home) Room program was installed on our ship for the first time this year and was combined with the former weekly assemblies. Stateroom meetings and assemblies occupied alternating Fridays.

Stateroom officers were elected by the seamen of their respective rooms. These officers were ably piloted by Phillip Snow as chairman, Miss Hattie Bates, Harold Hansen and Paul Hassett.

The purpose of home room meetings is to establish a confidence in students, thereby making it possible for them to "give forth" with sound ideas on school problems.

When we embarked on the last lap of our year's cruise, vocational guidance lectures were substituted for the stateroom program. Our seamen had their choice of four lectures on each program. These lectures were conducted by experts in their respective fields and ranged from agriculture to medicine.

All in all, our ship had a revolutionary program in education this year.

Raymond, we should think we should at this time. You said, "I forgot what you said." Anyway, M. C. Clellan

Dear Raymond, I've always gotten kick out of that place. Keep that disposition and you'll go a long way. Sincerely, Pe. Louis Williams

Writing The Log

"Stow the scuttlebutt and finish that story!"

"Where's the Freshman Class write-up?"

"Will we ever be done?" For a while it looked like a hopeless task.

Before searching this book critically for all the mistakes you can find, and grumbling because this picture isn't just right, or why didn't they do this or that; give a little thought to the hours spent bending over a "hot" typewriter, checking and re-checking spelling of words and names, re-writing and copy-reading stories, cutting pictures and measuring senior "pics", and the endless number of jobs connected with editing the Menomin.

Captain Adele Bryan, editor-in-chief, and Lt. J. G. Nan Tilseth, assistant editor, were responsible for most of the re-writing and finishing of stories, and cutting and preparing pictures to be sent to the engraver, where they are reduced to size.

Yeomen Jim Behling and Kathleen Kennedy assigned and gathered the write-ups of the sports and activities. All art work and the division pages were produced by Gene Courtney.

We of the 1948 Menomin have attempted to bring you the best publication possible. By eating, drinking, and sleeping "navy talk", we have offered through our best efforts, the U. S. S. Menomin.

Super Salesmen Hoist The Anchor

Their call rang through the ship one day with a special tang. This meant that we could start to pay for our "Menomins." The payment cruise lasted about 16 weeks. During the cruise, about 600 annuals were sold as the greenbacks and jingling silver changed hands.

It takes plenty of money to publish an annual and the reception of heavy responsibility on the part of the salesmen and their commanders, Lyle Pollock, advisor, and Captain Don Haase, student business manager.

Each stateroom is equipped with one or two salesmen who deflate the high spirits of a bright Tuesday morning by reminding you it is Bank Day.

Passengers and crew are fortunate, however, that they have the opportunity to gradually complete their annual fund rather than trying to "dig up" the lump sum for one payment.

They Keep Us Posted

"Slaves At Work". This sign greets one as he enters the Maroon Warrior office located just off stateroom 303. The sign is only too true, because working on the ship's paper is more than exciting and stimulating work. Officers for this publication have missed the "sack" more than once while working to meet a deadline.

The Maroon Warrior is published bi-weekly and has 611 subscribers as well as being sent to neighboring high schools in return for their paper.

Editor-in-Chief Louise Peterson posts the assignments. Seamen reporters then rush to write up their stories and to meet their deadlines.

Geraldine Erickson, as news editor, is responsible for all news coverage on board ship. Assistant editor, Dorothy Hardies, prepares the editorial page. Ralph Olson, as feature editor, makes use of personality sketches and ship humor on his page. Don Mense keeps everyone informed of recent sports happenings aboard on the fourth page.

When the editors have prepared and copy-read their respective pages, they are handed to Paul Hassett, advisor of the Warrior, for a final checking. Mr. Hassett sends them on to Miss Mildred Duff, the production advisor. Then the "presses" roll, and another issue of the Maroon Warrior is ready for the Menomin personnel.

Let The Presses Roll

Every other week may be heard the steady clack-clack of the typewriter in the Maroon Warrior cubby-hole stateroom. Stories are being dummy typed for the respective pages of the number one maritime publication. While the typists are busy, 750 papers are being folded so the Warrior will be able to go to press. The production staff takes up where the journalistic yeomen of the editorial staff leave off.

After the stories are typed, they are collected and made into pages that are ready for the stencil typists. Under their capable fingers, a stencil is then typed and ready for the headlines. After much hunting for the right lettering guide, the stencil is at last ready for Miss Mildred Duff to proofread.

Bright and early Saturday morning will find the artists on deck putting the finishing touches on the headlines, while in the typing room the operators are busily printing the news. About an hour or so after the time when everyone was supposed to be there, the last straggler comes in looking like he had a rough leave, Friday night. Around 1:00, amidst ink, slip-sheets, papers, dirty stencils and hands, and rough seas, the Warrior is at last done. Shouts of joy are heard resounding through the decks. Now we can shove-off for chow! The papers are counted and put away to be distributed early Monday morning to the staterooms.

*Dear Raymond,
 Our days at

 It will be pleasant
 remembering them.
 We wish you
 the best luck in everything.

 Lawrence Peterson*

Sea Gulls That Sing!

Every day at 1300, 70 bird-like voices fluttered into 101. (This explains why the windows were opened so often at this time—sea gulls like to be out in the salt sea air.)

Birds can't sing with nice, fat, juicy-fruit fish in their mouths, so the first task was to dispose of gum, or, if brave enough, to hide it under the tongue, well knowing that if caught chewing it, he or she would be doomed to sing a solo.

Sea food (music) was stored in music folders and handed out by Vivian Barnhart, Joan Cook, Pete Schneider, and Jerry Score. Delicacies such as Negro spirituals, sacred numbers, and other types of songs were among the varied assortment in their repertoire.

The services of flight officers were well executed by Dick Sneen, president; Gil Mowers, vice-president; and Adele Bryan, secretary-treasurer.

Under the skillful direction of Mr. Harold Cooke, the choir gulls participated in the presentation of the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah", a thrill to perform as well as listen to. Accompanied by Kathleen Kennedy and Doris Pankow, they also presented their annual Christmas concert, spring concert, and participated in the state music festival in Wausau. The choir journeyed to Minneapolis in May to sing at the Veterans' Hospital.

The choir hopes to sing in Milwaukee in August at the State Fair as a part of Wisconsin's centennial celebration. June 4th marked the permanent migration of 30 of the birds. We bid them a fond "tweet-tweet" and good singing wherever they may go.

Junior Fledglings

The fledgling songsters of the U.S.S. Menomin have left their mark on the musical minds of all.

At the helm of this 82-voice choir stands director Harold R. Cooke. Mary Vogtsberger ably accompanies our junior sea gulls.

The calendar of this organization was full this year. Junior High assembly, the Christmas concert, the spring concert, and the Eau Claire music festival claimed the attention of these singers. They proudly returned with a I rating from their competition. The junior group was even mistaken for the senior choir when they sang in Eau Claire.

Out of the senior choir, 30 members will take permanent leave this spring, presenting openings for replacement from the junior choir.

M. H. S. Navy Band

Ship's music was provided by our Senior Band, under the direction of Captain Evelyn Knospe. This season the band reached a goal that it has been striving to attain for the past three years.

With a generous donation of almost $3600 from the Rotary Club, and able support from the Band Parents' Association, enough money was raised to completely outfit our 60-piece band and the majorettes with new uniforms.

Lt. J. G. Kathleen Kennedy is president of the band and also directed on several occasions when Captain Knospe was on leave. Other officers include: Carolyn Ohnstad, vice-president; Shirley Clough, secretary; Charlotte Cotts, treasurer; and Madrice Spreiter and Doran Lotwin, librarians.

Besides the activity of the town's people and parents, Captain Knospe and her sea-faring musicians worked very hard also, and we feel that they justly deserve their trim new maroon and grey uniforms.

Joan Cook was our vivacious drum major with Prudence Johnson, Carol Kaunzner, Julie Metling, Shirley Sommervold, and Nancy Stratton strutting right behind her.

Various music clinics, where a good deal of preparation, by both band and director, was shown, were attended by the band throughout the year.

New Recruits

If you will think back a few years you can't help comparing the number of members there were in this band to the present total. Each year more boots have enlisted to fill the recruiter's quota.

Besides helping to cheer up the U.S.S. Menomin's football team at games and playing in concerts, the Junior Band is developing some excellent soloists who will someday be our Senior Navy Band members.

The Junior Band meets twice a week under the captainship of Miss Evelyn Knospe. The gold braid in the outfit are: Bill Holmberg, president; John Walter, vice-president; David Samdahl, secretary; and Dick Buran, treasurer. Besides these officers, the band elected Jack Close and David Price as custodians, and Jacqueline Chryst and Kathleen Ott, librarians.

This year the ship's Junior Band boasts new uniforms, as they have the caped outfits formerly worn by the Senior Band.

Hi! we had a great time at the concert. You were all great. We had a lot of fun. We will be back soon. Love, the Junior Band.

Cream of the Crew

Athletically speaking, the title holds true. Our 30 "M" Club members are the ship's top athletes.

To earn membership, a sailor must participate in half of the football or basketball quarters, or earn five points in track, equivalent to a "first" or a combination of points awarded for "placing" in a major meet.

The annual class basketball tournament is sponsored by the sea-going athletes and the treasurer's "hold" full of money was strengthened when the muscle-men donned their personality grins and offered cheerios for a small fee at games.

Under Commanders Lund and McKay, promotions were awarded and new selectees chosen for membership.

Captain Dick Sneen was president of the group this time out, assisted by: Lt. J. G. Chuck Weber, vice-president; Yeoman Jerry "I can't type" Shafer, secretary; and Bill "light fingers" Borm, treasurer.

We Beg To Differ!

Although manning a weak sail, due to the lack of experienced debaters, the debate squad won two out of six debates this year at the district meet in Chippewa Falls, February 14th.

Commander Lyle Maves had ten able seamen under his command; two teams of four and two alternates.

The crew members on the first teams at Chippewa were: affirmative, Arla Reppe and Charlotte Cotts; negative, Bob Gilgenbach and David Millar. Dave was the captain of the cruiser S.S. Debate.

Other crew members include: Gerry Erickson, Joan Hosford, Ronnie Jones, Prudence Johnson, Jack Peterson, and Audrey Porter.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," is evidently their cry. Hours are spent preparing material and outlining speeches, but they are amply rewarded with occasional parties that have been the talk of the ship!

Debaters made several voyages during the year, sailing to Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls, and Rice Lake for combat with the enemy.

The question which has caused so much discussion and is our debating sailors "bread and beans" is: Resolved, That the Federal Government should provide a system of compulsory arbitration in all basic industries.

Forensics

The forensics ship, under the command of Harold Hansen, Miss Eleanor Koehler, Mrs. William Ballentine, and Mrs. Harold Hardies sailed ahead in full glory this year.

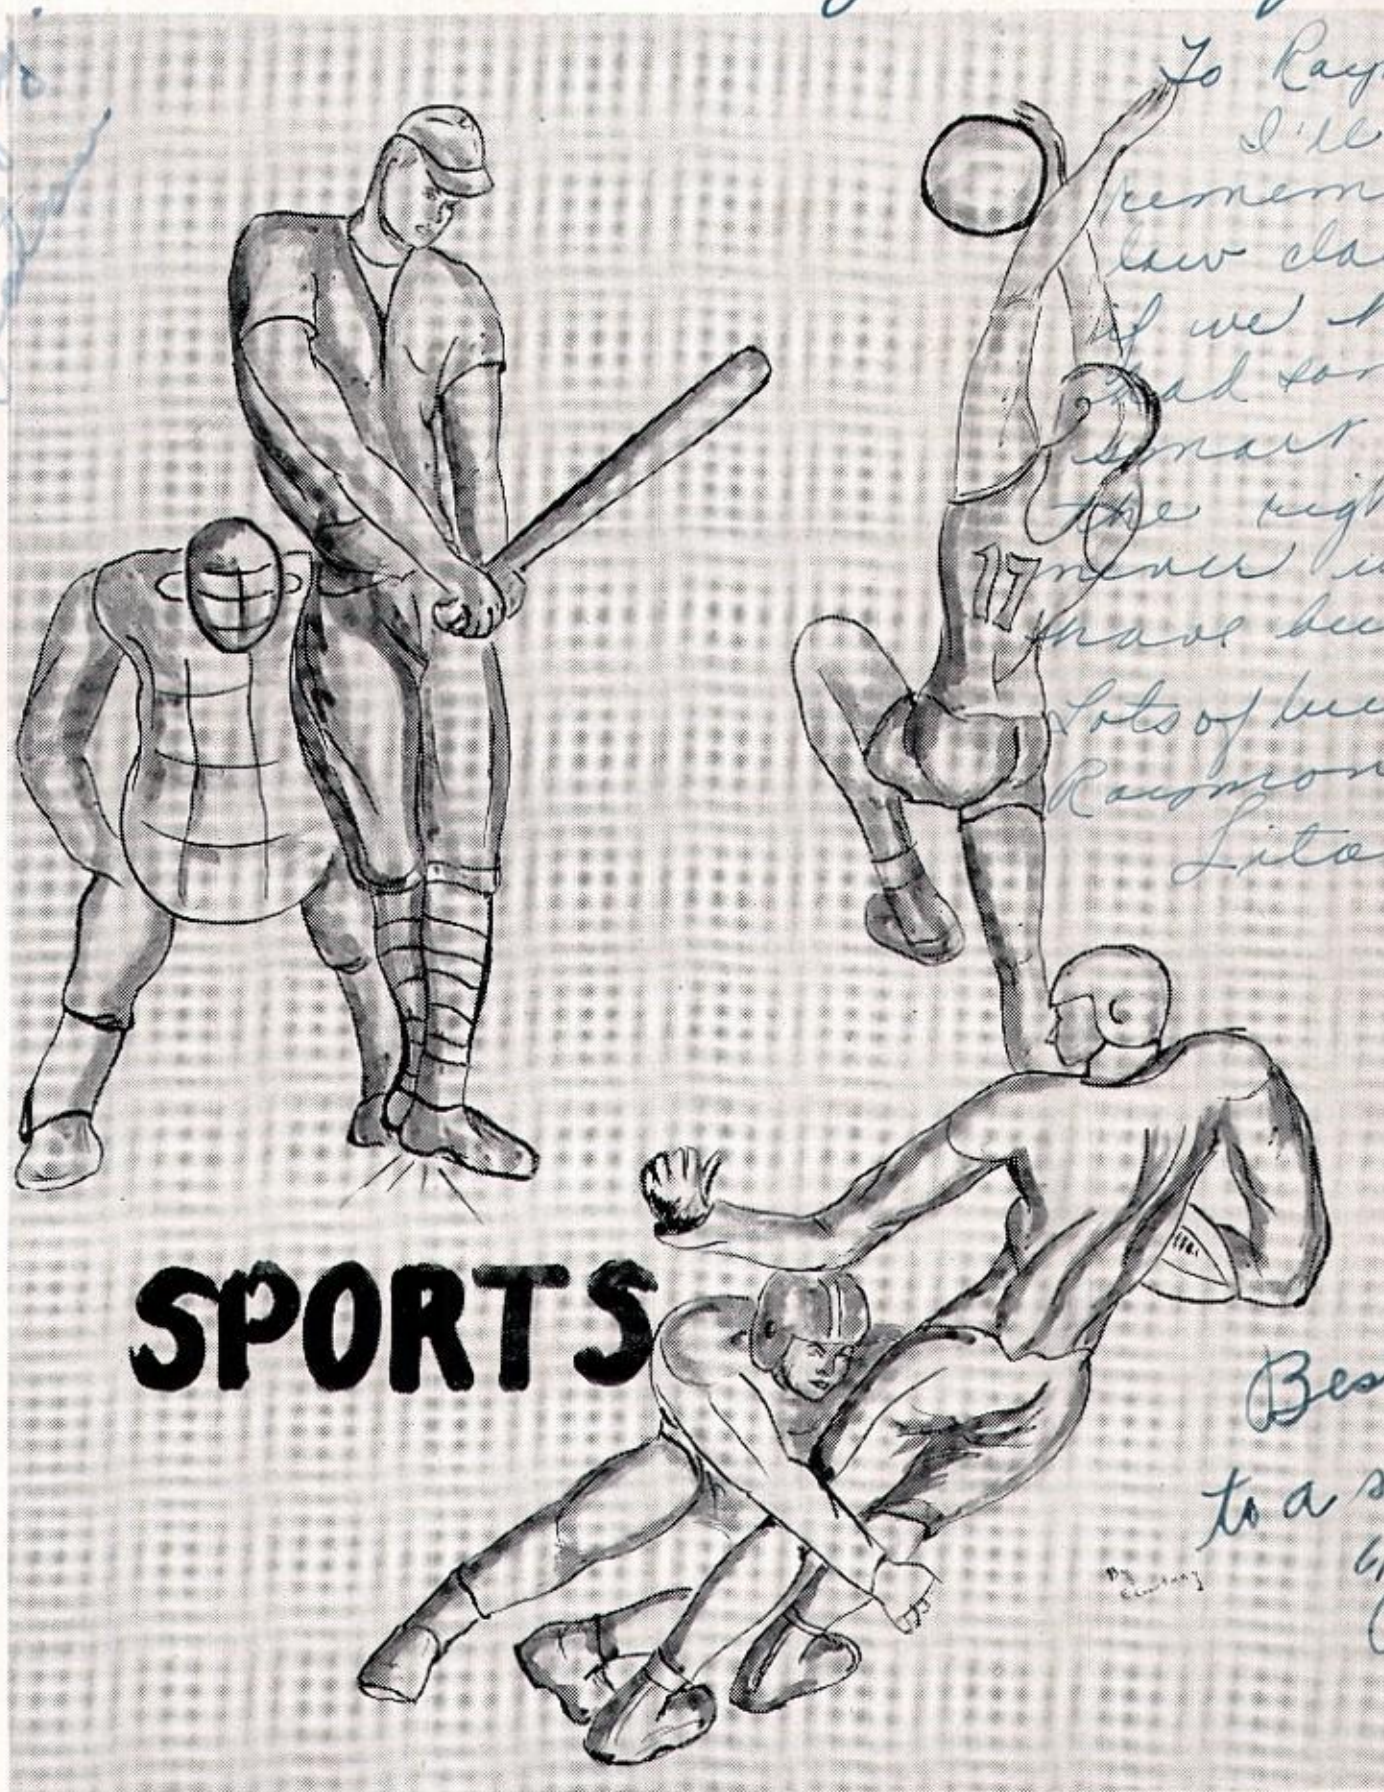

Our high school elimination contest was held April 12. Ten students, winning the eliminations, were eligible to attend the district forensic meet at Eau Claire, April 17. Those students were: Mary Louise Hickox and Doran Lotwin, humorous declamation; Joeline Chryst and Carolyn Ohnstad, non-humorous declamation; Kathleen Kennedy and Mary Lou McNaughton, extemporaneous reading; Dave Buran and John Zachreus, learned oratory; Dave Millar and Nan Tilseth, original oratory.

Of these ten, three embarked on the trip to the state forensics meet held at Madison on April 24. Eligible because of winning "A's" at the district meet, those "sailing forth" to Madison were Kathleen Kennedy, Dave Buran, and Mary Louise Hickox. From all reports, the three, along with "Hans", had a very enjoyable time. Kathleen and Dave received "A's" while Mary Louise received a "B"—a fine showing for our high school.

The last two years have proved that M.H.S. can take its place at the top of the list in forensics. In the years to come, she will sail on full speed ahead to put Menomonie on the map in the field of forensics.

To Lead Physical Education

We have our "WAVE" officers, the gym leaders. It is indeed an honor to be chosen to wear the coveted white suit, a position attained by only fourteen girls in high school.

Each spring the old sea-veterans get together and elect new gym leaders. Two capable swabbees are picked from the eighth grade, and two freshmen, who then serve until they graduate from high school.

Certain requirements are essential to the make-up of a successful "G.L." such as: pleasing personality, good character, excellent conduct, scholastic average of 85, and gym average of 90.

Our feminine "tars" perform duties varying from taking roll to picking up sweatshirts from the benches after class is over. Gym leaders help by taking care of the equipment, locking lockers, supervising showers, and assisting their captain, Miss Etta Walters. The spring Gym Exhibition means hard work for the gym leader. She must help prepare and lead her class in its stunt, while attempting to keep the squealing girls, with their shouts of anxiety and suspense, from arousing Davy Jones from his locker.

Special medals are awarded at the annual decoration ceremony in the spring to leaders having served one year. Seniors, who are being discharged from our ranks, are presented with bracelets bearing a gym leader insignia on a silver band. Retiring seamen include: H. Brunn and A. Bryan, 4-year veterans; J. Cook, 3-year officer, and K. Kennedy, who served one year before receiving a medical discharge.

Muscle-Women

Ship Ahoy! About 120 girls heeded the call last fall and joined the ranks of the senior G.A.A. There is also a junior organization for seventh and eighth grade boots, preparing them for initiation when they become freshmen.

Qualifications are very simple; consisting of an interest in athletics, willingness to participate in sports, and twenty-five cents in dues.

The initiation party at the Armory is always one of the highlights of the year. This fall, the poor swabbees were ordered to wear fantastic costumes and had adhesive tape stuck to their arms and legs. The tape was gleefully ripped off later by the older veteran members. After their faces were dipped in water and flour, they were invited to climb aboard and join in the annual impressively beautiful initiation ceremony.

There was considerable trouble finding space on the ship for their extensive sports program this season. The girls, however, completed round-robin tournaments between the two leagues in fieldball, basketball, and kitten-ball. Points are earned by participating in sports, refereeing, keeping score, and in various other ways, which go toward an "M", awarded to any girl who has 1600 points. Bronze GAA pins are given to those obtaining 900 points.

This year the GAA members had more reason than ever to be proud of their organization. Their candidate, Adele Bryan, was chosen queen of the Menomonie Winter Carnival. The GAA generously donated a snowsuit and formal, with all accessories for her week's stay in St. Paul as a guest of the St. Paul Winter Carnival.

Leading the GAA on this cruise were: Lieutenant Adele Bryan as president, and Lts. J. G. Shirley Sommervold, vice-president; Martha McMahon, secretary; Gerry Erickson, treasurer; Charlotte Cotts, point secretary; and Joan Cook, Junior GAA advisor.

G. A. A. Team Captains

Soon after school started, the ship S.S. G.A.A. began its voyage by electing team captains and organizing the tournaments in fieldball, volleyball, basketball, and kittenball.

Chosen by G.A.A. members to lead their twelve-member teams were: Adele Bryan, Joan Cook, Joan Dunphy, Gerry Erickson, Marie Hovind, Carol Kaunzner, Betty Moe, Phebe Pierce, Shirley Sommervold, and Nan Tilseth.

Because of the lack of adequate playing facilities, no volleyball tournament was held, but hard fought battles were waged in the fieldball tournament, basketball, and kittenball games.

Competition between teams was "fierce" as they all strove for top honors. Team captains must serve as an incentive to their teams and keep them under control "when the going gets tough".

Getting players out on a cold winter night for a cruise to the Armory is often no easy job, but the captains are behind them urging attendance.

Rivalry between teams grows strong as they battle for the silver cup awarded to the championship team at the end of the voyage.

Morale Builders

On board ship is no place to find 700 depressed sailors, so each fall a crew of cheerleaders is elected to dig out our pep and unite our shouts.

As well as being strenuous exercise and lots of fun, cheerleading is a serious business. The attitude and behavior of a whole school is often controlled and measured by its cheerleaders. They strive always for good sportsmanship, friendly relations between rival student bodies, and the more obvious duty, giving the team unified support from the spectators. Often their own personal traits and emotions must be laid aside in lieu of the situation, choosing what they consider to be the "right" thing to do.

Five seniors were on deck through-out football and basketball games. Carol Kaunzner, Don Allen, and Wally Johnson were inexperienced boots elected by ballot in September by the senior high in an assembly. Three-year veterans and "M" winners, Phebe Pierce and Adele Bryan took the newcomers through some rigid practices until the five emerged as a smooth working machine. According to the rules of the U.S.S. Menomin, if a cheerleader is elected during his sophomore and junior years, he is automatically a cheerleader the third year, without having to go up before the assembly in an election. Also, he may receive an "M" only after two years of service in senior high.

Gene Harshman, who had previously served one year, was drafted to replace Wally Johnson during the mid-term leave.

Entertainment and recreational activities are the aims of the Noon Hour Activities Association, an organization for boys and girls who remain on board ship during the noon hour.

The 110 members of the 1947-48 N.H.A.A. were guided by Chuck Weber, president; Donna Eighmy, vice-president; Maryruth Husby, secretary; Jim Olson, treasurer; and under the advisorship of Robert Lee. Meetings were held frequently for business and to decide coming events of the N.H.A.A.

In the fall, dust could be seen rising from the playground adjoining the ship's moorings, where two football teams would be battling it out. When a wintry sun looked down upon our ship at high noon, it saw on top deck a scene of sweating boys playing basketball. The girls always made a good cheering section, for yells backing a favorite team often resounded through the decks of the ship. Kittenball was spring's sport, and there was a "terrific" struggle by each team to gain a first rating.

« NOON

Every Friday, while snow and stormy weather were roughing our calm sea, gobs and gals could be found in the gym where "cutting a rug" was the order of the day. Though some of the fellows found their sea legs a little unsteady on this unfamiliar ground, the girls soon had them well under command. Some of the shy sailors even lost their timidity!

The ship commissary often offered movies, which were another source of entertainment for these guards of the noon hour. These included shorts on the world series and boxing pictures.

With the help of many members, a float for the homecoming parade was built around an appropriate slogan, "An Indian strike is what Blue Raiders dislike."

Talent from this organization was aired in an assembly program which included musical numbers and a humorous skit depicting "a noon hour scene."

Spring shore leave brought with it a hayride. This activity was well attended by members of the club.

We Have Met The Enemy

When it came time for the 1947-48 football season to sail on to the field, Commander Einer Lund found but five lettermen returning, around whom he was to build a team. These boys were co-captains, Ensigns Don Wangen and Dick Sneen, Seamen Jerry Shafer, "Pork" Schneider, and Jerry Schultz. The prospects of a championship team did not appear too promising, but the effect of hard training and faithful coaching on a group of inexperienced boots finally came to light when the Indians defeated the enemy battleships, The Colfax and The New Richmond.

It was a hot, sunny, fall day when the Maroons invaded the treacherous waters of The Spring Valley. With high spirits, the "Redskins" piled on the deck looking like the crew to win. Midway in the battle, Lady Luck seemed to pass over to the opposing team. A bombshell was intercepted by the enemy and a touchdown called back for the Maroon sailors. When the smoke cleared, The Spring Valley had won a decision, 13 to 6.

Colfax Vikings were next on the list for the green Menomonie eleven, who were challenged in a day battle inside home waters. Passengers will remember "Pork" Schneider's interception of a valuable pass and touchdown "waddle". This time the outcome favored the Menomin Navy, 18 to 6.

With one victory under its belt, the Warriors steamed on to Chippewa Falls for a practice battle. Although the outcome did not affect the war for the Middle Border Crown, the Falls eleven made more than a sham battle out of the tilt. High with homecoming spirit, the Cardinals repeated the performance of two years ago when we invaded their shores, scoring on the first play of the game and entirely outplaying our squad. Our 32 to 7 shellacing was sent out all over the conference world as a satirical note of triumph for the revenged Falls crew.

Next, we were confronted with a short cruise to River Falls where we were to meet, supposedly, the strongest team of the seven game series. The Falcons made the going tough and battle casualties were heavy as the two ships limped homeward. The mighty battleship River Falls was the victor, 27 to 0.

Again venturing out into poisonous waters, The Ellsworth was challenged. It proved another fruitless battle and we went down again, this time 20 to 0.

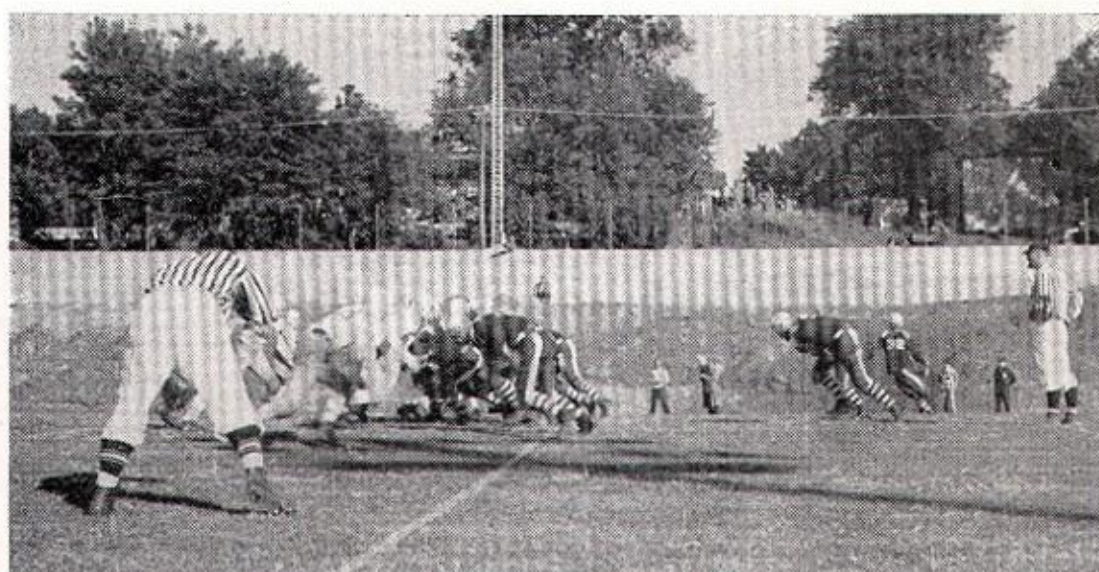

"EINER"
ON
DUTY

Recuperating from our recent defeats, we were suddenly taken off guard by The New Richmond. The tussle inaugurated our first play under the new lighting system over Burton E. Nelson Sea. A slow continuous salt-water spray was the only thing that marred the evening as "Einer's boys" proved they could fight, by scoring a 19 to 6 victory over the roaring Tigers. The season's record was set by the passing combination of Shafer, Wangen, Quilling, and Onstad as they made direct hits with 18 out of 23 passes.

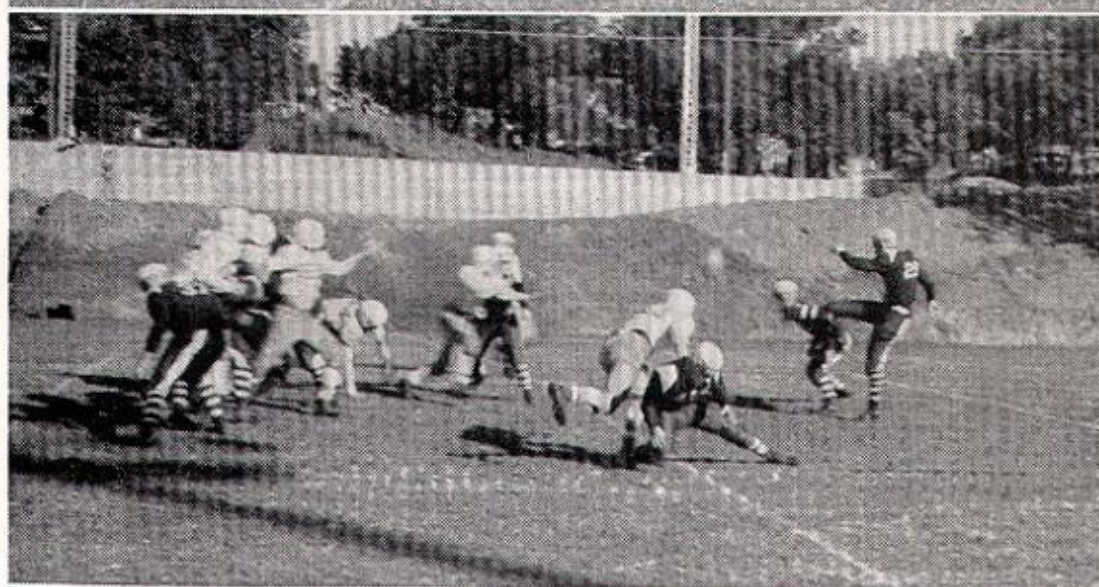

In the midst of homecoming festivities, a surprise attack was unleashed by a spirited Hudson crew. Although Menomonie put up a terrific fight, the Blue and White proved too much for us, and we went down 12 to 0 in the last scheduled game of the season.

At the annual decoration ceremony, which is held as a final tribute to the men, Commander Lund expressed his gratitude to the boys for their co-operation with him. In return, the players showed their appreciation for his fine leadership by presenting him with a portable radio.

It is with regret that we see fine men like Berg, Bilse, Bradford, Mense, Olson, Quilling, Sneen, Thibado, Wangen, and Weber leave our ship for uncharted seas.

47-48.

Three sea veterans, Ensigns Jerry Shafer, Don Wangen, and Mike Wingert, reported at the Armory when Commander Les McKay called the first practice for the 1947-48 basketball season. From an extensive field of new prospects, Commander McKay selected the tall, dark, sophomore, Gene Williams, as the squad's center with Bob Onstad and Ralph Olson alternating as starters. When the season closed, our quint had captured third place in the Middle Border Conference with eight wins and four losses. Looking at the year from an over-all view, the Maroons were successful in 11 out of 20 battles.

The Menomonie five had trouble getting launched on the sea of victory, losing first to Sparta, 39 to 31, and then to Ellsworth, 60 to 36. The channel seemed to open up for them as the squad upset first Hudson, 40 to 24, next New Richmond, 38 to 28, and then Chippewa Falls, 36 to 27.

The M.H.S. crew again tasted defeat from the hands of a cagey Ellsworth crew, 39 to 31, only to drop the next tilt, 37 to 30, at Sparta.

State contenders, La Crosse Logan, revenged last year's trouncing, defeating us in a hard fought battle, 48 to 44. Our Maroons appeared as a better team in this game than in any previous contest.

WILLIAMS TAKES THE JUMP

The Indians sailed back with three straight wins from Colfax, 48 to 27; Spring Valley, 47 to 38; and Chippewa Falls, 38 to 32.

Attempting to stop a six-foot, five-inch center is bad enough, but River Falls also had four other top notch men. The Falls lived up to their name as top contender for the conference title, dropping a final depth charge, leaving us holding the low end of a 57 to 49 score.

A much improved Hudson team was defeated by "Archie" Shafer's free throw in the last two seconds of the game, 44 to 43. We repeated our former win over New Richmond, 38 to 33.

The La Crosse Logan five proved their strength again by running up a 54 to 36 victory over us. Cellar occupant, Colfax, was "walloped" 41 to 29.

With Commander McKay and regulars Shafer, Onstad, and Wingert scouting tournament foes, Spring Valley very nearly upset what was almost our second team, forcing us into an overtime before falling to a 40 to 39 decision.

Ray,
 It's too bad that

"THE MAC'ER"

Conference champions, River Falls, completed their schedule undefeated by nipping the Warriors in a double overtime, 26 to 24. Our team looked like a group from the dramatics department as they gave their own version of the "River Falls Stall," used by the orange and white against us last year.

The Maroons, under a revised W.I.A.A. tournament system, sailed to Mondovi for a chance at the sub-regional crown, which would entitle them to a cruise to Eau Claire for the regional tourney. Durand sank under pressure from our rugged fast-moving squad, but Mondovi's Buffaloes plowed under all hopes of a repeating regional title by washing our decks to a score of 45 to 35.

Jerry Shafer, first-string guard, was chosen on the second all-tournament team, while Bob Onstad received honorable mention.

Outstanding features of the squad this year were the even distribution of scoring, versatility of the players, and the use of under-classmen, particularly sophomores.

Jerry Shafer was elected honorary captain for the year and was also presented with the free-throw trophy, given annually to the player with the greatest per cent of successful gift shots.

On Your Mark!

With the coming of the birds and the melting of snow, Menomonie High School's trackmen begin once more the job of keeping up the high standards of our former track teams.

Although finding it difficult to secure a cinder lane large enough to accommodate the eager "swifties" on board ship, Commander Einer Lund brought the boys to shore at numerous intervals, to run about the town shocking mothers and children from the streets.

Forming the nucleus of this year's squad are lettermen Captain Gene Harshman and two-year letter winner, Jerry Shafer. A part of the completing squad are: "Mux" Clark, hurdles; Ken Quilling, half-mile; Jerry Schultz, discus; "Pork" Schneider, shot put; Bob Frank and Fred Raasch, mile; and Bob Onstad, dash man imported from Merrilan; plus many new faces who may develop into first class tracksters.

With these top-flight athletes Commander Lund hopes to make impressive showings at this year's meets. Schedule for the team includes:

Rice Lake	May 4
Little Olympics	May 7
River Falls	May 8
Eau Claire Invitational	May 11
W. I. A. A. Track Meet	May 14
State Meet	May 22

Dear Ray,

We spent quite a bit of time suffering
 through the same classes this year - English,
 Com. Law, History, Physics, & of course the 2:00 study period (I try to forget that one).
 We've been thinking of divulging the A hiding place for the best in physics equipment to some worthwhile junior - for a price, of course. With our graduation presents, we ought to have a "royal" time when we get out of school. I guess ~~to~~ to get a good mark in physics you don't have to know more, you've got to know Leo. Lots of luck in the future, & hope to see you again sometime.

THE "M" CLUB BATTLES
AT INTERMISSION

April — "Mac" gave out basketball letters at the Basketball Party, including one to "rough-house" Hanson. . . . Stassen won the school election, but the students don't think that should give a Truman Mac Arthritis, Dewey? . . . "Call the cops! There goes a fellow without any clothes—oh no, never mind. It's just another trackman" . . . Why is it that they call those G.A.A. banquets "pot" luck dinners? . . . "Get your mitts offa that bench!" "Do you want me to bat you one?" "Go on home!" Guess what—baseball has started.

May — Reports have been circulated that "Mac" was scouting for future material at the Gym Exhibition. . . . Those boys really aren't walking mummies. It just happened that two track meets came in succession, and the team hasn't quite recovered. . . . News Item: "Due to overwork, three traffic counters on Elk Mound Hill go berserk." Could that have been prom night? . . . "Ink" Mense certainly was a natural for the part of the drunken porter in "Macbeth" . . . Some say that "Polly" has been looking for a curly headed junior to take Bob Kothlow's place.

June — One hundred and twenty-six seniors don the blue and white for that stroll down the aisle Friday night. "The last mile" . . . Farewell and our blessings to all of you. . . .
